

Pancyprian Photography Competition

Scientific evidence demonstrates the direct relationship between human health (good physical and mental state) and the environment, including lifestyle and individual behaviors. Human health is significantly affected by climate change, environmental degradation and pollution, which increases the risk of developing chronic diseases, such as cancer, cardiovascular disease and diabetes. On the other hand, healthy environments (e.g. clean air, clean water and green cities) could promote a healthier lifestyle and prevent/reduce disease, overall. Healthy and sustainable lifestyles and choices should be considered a priority for the health of the planet and that of future generations.

Accordingly, the Cyprus International Institute for Environmental and Public Health (CII) of the Cyprus University of Technology (CUT), in cooperation with the Cyprus Photographic Society, Limassol Branch, organize a Pancyprian Photography Competition entitled:

« The Impact of the Environment on Public Health »

The competition is open to all photographers, both amateurs and professionals. Participants are asked to showcase the positive or/and negative impact of the environment on public health with up to 10 pictures, maximum. With the enrollment in the competition you agree to accept the following terms and conditions.

The purpose of the contest is to raise awareness amongst the Cypriot citizens and stimulate their interest in understanding the connection between the environment and human health. It will allow them to adopt healthier lifestyles and thus, reduce the risk and/or prevent the development of chronic diseases.
