

invitation

Wednesday
13 April 2016
15:00-16:00

Lecture Room
Ttofi Kyriacou Building
Ground Floor

The Department of Environmental Science and Technology of the Cyprus University of Technology invites you at the lecture on:

Impacts of Mineral Processing Activities on Environment in Slovakia conditions

Speaker:

Ľubica Kozáková

Vice-dean for Education in the First and Second Level of University Education and Pedagogy

Information:
25002178
www.cut.ac.cy/events

Abstract:

Impacts of Mineral Processing Activities on Environment in Slovakia conditions

- Short history of mining activities in Slovakia
- Primary and secondary raw materials
- Old environmental loads in Slovakia conditions
- Environmental monitoring of potential sources of pollution
- Asbestos issues

CV:

Lubica Kozakova is since February 2015 Vice-dean for Education in the First and Second Level of University Education and Pedagogy at the Faculty of Mining, Ecology, Process Control and Geotechnologies, (FBERG), The Technical University of Košice. She is the guarantor of the bachelor study programme “Environmental Protection and Ecotechnologies of Raw Materials”, she works on research and teaching activities focus on Impacts of mining and mineral processing activities to the environment, Waste management, Environmental sampling, Environmental Management Systems.

She cooperates with Office of Public Health in Slovakia as an expert – professional competence to carry out measurements of asbestos in working area and in living environment.

She was responsible researcher of project VEGA, Ministry of Education: Using of information systems (GIS) in loaded regions (middle Spiš) for monitoring of heavy metal contamination at soils and possibilities of their revitalization. Assoc. prof. Kozakova has published 1 monography and 11 research papers (Web of Knowledge, h index = 4).