

Invitation

Saturday 06th May 2017 10:00 a.m.

Language Centre, 5 Demosthenous Mitsi, Lemesos

Create, Present and Engage interactively in language teaching through the use of Nearpod

Based on current theories and practices in the use of technology for language teaching purposes, this workshop aims at language teachers who wish to use Nearpod as an innovative and engaging technological tool in language teaching contexts. During the workshop participants will familiarise with the various functionalities of the tool and how these can be used pedagogically in language teaching. Participants will be provided with hands on practice in creating their own Nearpod lessons and in sharing ideas and experiences.

Programme:

10:00 a.m.: Registration

10:00 - 11:15 a.m.: Introduction to Nearpod

by Dr Androulla Athanasiou

11:15 - 11:45 a.m.: Coffee Break

11:45 - 13:00 a.m.: Practical and Pedagogical

Application of Nearpod by Dr Androulla Athanasiou

The workshop is free and a certificate of attendance will be given to all participants. To register, please fill in the form: http://bit.ly/2nyJua6

Dr Androulla Athanasiou is an English Language Instructor at the Language Centre of the Cyprus University of Technology (CUT). She holds a BA in English Literature and Classical Studies from Keele University (1999), an MA in English and Language Studies and Methods from Warwick University (2000), an MA in Educational Leadership from the European University Cyprus (2012) and a PhD in English Language Teaching from Warwick University (2005). During her teaching experience (12 years), she has engaged in course development and material design, both at an undergraduate and a postgraduate level. The past 8 years, she has been teaching ESAP (English for Specific Academic Purposes) courses and the past 2 years she has been teaching on the MA in CALL programme. Dr Athanasiou's research interest lie in material design, use of technology in language teaching/learning, learner autonomy, collaborative learning, the CEFR, etc.

