

One (1) post in the field of ‘Advanced Nurse Practicing’ in the topic:
“Cardiovascular Diseases in Women”

Candidates must be registered nurses with a Postgraduate degree at Advanced Nurse Practicing with specialization in cardiology.

Candidates need to have good computer skills (Microsoft Office, Statistical Analysis Software), as well as to have excellent Greek and English language skills and relevant clinical experience.

Prior research experience in the topic will be considered as an advantage.

Information: Ekaterini Lambrinou, Professor,

Email: ekaterini.lambrinou@cut.ac.cy

One (1) post in the field of 'Cardio-obstetrics in the topic:
"Cardiovascular Diseases in Women correlated with pregnancy"

Candidates must be registered nurses with a Postgraduate degree at Midwifery with specialization in cardiology.

Candidates need to have good computer skills (Microsoft Office, Statistical Analysis Software), as well as to have excellent Greek and English language skills and relevant clinical experience.

Prior research experience in the topic will be considered as an advantage.

Information: Ekaterini Lambrinou, Professor, Email: ekaterini.lambrinou@cut.ac.cy

One (1) position in the field of “The practice of spirituality for symptom management of patients with chronic conditions”

Candidates must be registered nurses, physicians and/or psychologists, dietitians with a Master's degree in healthcare sciences. Candidates need to have excellent Greek and English language skills, be competent in the use of computer programs (Microsoft Office, Statistical Analysis Software). Relevant clinical experience as well as current clinical affiliation will be taken into account.

For more information, about the position and funding possibilities, the candidates can contact directly Dr Maria Kyranou, Associate Professor, School of Nursing, at the following email address: maria.kyranou@cut.ac.cy

One (1) position in the field of

“The management of pain and other symptoms in patients with chronic conditions with the use of a Non-Invasive Brain Stimulation (NIBS) device”

Candidates must be registered nurses, physicians and/or psychologists, dietitians, Electrical and Computer Engineers, with a Master's degree in healthcare sciences or a specialization in health informatics (for Engineers only). Candidates need to have excellent Greek and English language skills, be competent in the use of computer programs (Microsoft Office, Statistical Analysis Software). Relevant clinical experience as well as current clinical affiliation will be taken into account.

For more information, about the position and funding possibilities, the candidates can contact directly Dr Maria Kyranou, Associate Professor, School of Nursing, at the following email address: maria.kyranou@cut.ac.cy